Primarily, the team discussed comments for Question #3 and the concerns highly focused on challenges with assessing the cause of a phase jump due to issues with computational needs and assumptions. Commenters, team members, and observers explained issues with determining if the phase jump that occurred was a result of a fault or a non-fault switching event. The team included the requirement to ensure that there was adequate coverage for entities that had IBR disconnect from these types of events were captured with this level of detail. This issue was not resolved in the time remaining for the call.

J. Calderon reminded the team that the next draft should not supersede the time the team needs for reviewing comments fully. As such, the team will meet again the following week to review comments and revise the drafts as needed.
